

AMPHIBIANS

What is the big change that turns tadpoles into frogs or toads?

What do amphibians' skin glands do?

Metamorphosis.

Keep their skin moist and sometimes exude bitter-tasting poisons.

Are salamanders amphibians or reptiles?

Some adult amphibians don't have lungs. They get oxygen through their _____.

Amphibians. Though they are shaped like lizards, they have the smooth, moist skin of other amphibians.

Insects. Skin.

Wet or moist.

Most adult amphibians eat lots of _____.

Amphibians must lay their eggs where it is _____.

An amphibian's skin lets both _____ pass and _____ through it.

(b) Moist. Air and water.

An amphibian's skin must remain (a) dry, (b) moist, or (c) spotted.

AMPHIBIANS

"Amphibians"

Cut carefully along the outside square and fold a Nature Fact-Finder!